About the Workshop

India's higher education system is the world's 3rd largest, next to the United States and China. It has around 800 universities and 48000 colleges with a second largest student's enrolment in higher education in the world. The fast paced annual growth of GDP in India reveals the demand for higher education among the middle class growing to over 200 million in the next ten years.

Today higher education aims at imparting quality education to a large number of people and spreading knowledge. The influence of stakeholders (students, administrator, faculty and various public entities), their expectations and priorities make it difficult to achieve quality. As excellence has both political and economic context besides social and cultural environment, hence, it is necessary to identify tangible moves, measures and methods to evaluate quality.

Quality assurance and accreditation in higher education is defined as systematic management and assessment of procedures as well as quantitative and qualitative parameters adopted by the Higher Educational Institutions or system to monitor performance and ensure achievement of quality improvement. Quality assurance aims to give stakeholders confidence about the management of quality and the outcome achieved. National Accreditation and Assurance Cell of India performs this role of quality assurance to its stakeholders. Recently it has undergone a Paradigm Shift in its assessment processes which the academia must know and acknowledge.

In this scenario of Paradigm Shift by NAAC, with an illustrious 50 years of experience in imparting quality education, Nirmala College hosts the National Workshop to provide a platform to academicians (academic experts), Policy makers in higher education, managers in academia and other stakeholders in higher education to understand the important and changing trends in Accreditation policy of NAAC which is very much in context with changing global trends and sets up new benchmarks to ensure quality and excellence.

The workshop is an opportunity to:

- A higher degree of understanding of the relevance and importance of Revised Accreditation Framework (RAF) in Higher Educational Institutions (HEIs).
- Increased level of networking and collaboration among Academicians from different Colleges and Universities of the Country.
- Better understanding and Capacity building of Academicians/Managers of HEIs of RAF in order to enhance the quality assurance and quality enhancement in the fields of HEIs.
- Better trained academicians in the field of audit, both academic and administrative, for upgrading quality culture in different Colleges and Universities of Jharkhand.
- Documentation of the proposals for more reforms and action plan arising out of the interaction and deliberations of the workshop.
